Grammar Focus: Verb Conjugations and Usage

Mastery of verb conjugations is a central aspect of Realidades 2 Capítulo 4B. This section explains the key grammar points, especially focusing on irregular verbs and expressions used for making invitations and talking about social plans.

Conjugation of Poder and Querer

The verbs poder (to be able to) and querer (to want) are instrumental in extending invitations and expressing preferences. Their present tense conjugations are essential to understand:

- Poder: puedo, puedes, puede, podemos, podéis, pueden
- Querer: quiero, quieres, quiere, queremos, queréis, quieren

These verbs are often combined with infinitives to talk about activities, e.g., ¿Quieres salir? (Do you want to go out?).

Use of Ir + a + Infinitive for Future Plans

Another important grammatical structure is the use of ir (to go) plus a plus an infinitive verb to express near future actions. For example, Voy a ir al cine means “I am going to go to the movies.” This construction is frequently used in invitations and making plans.

Forming Questions and Negative Responses

Students also learn how to form questions using inversion or question words, as well as how to decline invitations politely with negative constructions. For instance, ¿No quieres venir? means “Don’t you want to come?” and No puedo ir means “I can’t go.”

These responses demonstrate polite refusal and alternative suggestions, reflecting natural conversation flow.

- Yo puedo ir al concierto.
- Ellos quieren salir esta noche.
- Nosotros vamos a estudiar para el examen.

These examples reinforce the grammatical structures taught in the chapter.

Question and Answer Practice

Exercises requiring question formation and responses are answered by using correct interrogative forms and appropriate replies. For example:
