Overview of the Signing Naturally Curriculum

The Signing Naturally curriculum is widely regarded as one of the most comprehensive and effective ASL instructional programs available. Designed for learners ranging from beginners to intermediate levels, it emphasizes natural learning through visual and contextual methods. The program integrates vocabulary, grammar, and cultural insights to provide a holistic understanding of ASL. Each unit builds upon the previous one, progressively enhancing learners' communication skills and comprehension. The curriculum is often utilized in academic settings, such as high schools and colleges, as well as in community education programs. The inclusion of workbooks, video materials, and answer keys makes Signing Naturally a versatile educational tool.

Structure and Components

Signing Naturally is structured around a series of units that cover specific themes, vocabulary sets, and grammatical structures. Each unit typically includes:

- Vocabulary lists relevant to everyday topics
- Grammar lessons emphasizing ASL syntax and structure

- Practice exercises for receptive and expressive skills
- Cultural notes to deepen understanding of Deaf culture
- Video demonstrations to model correct signing

This multi-faceted approach ensures that learners engage with ASL in a meaningful and effective way.

Detailed Breakdown of Units 7 to 12

Units 7 through 12 of Signing Naturally represent a critical phase in the learning journey, focusing on expanding vocabulary and refining grammatical knowledge. These units introduce more complex sentence structures and cultural concepts, enabling students to communicate with greater fluency and confidence.

Unit 7: Descriptions and Details

Unit 7 emphasizes descriptive vocabulary and the use of adjectives in ASL. Learners practice how to provide detailed descriptions of people, places, and objects, incorporating facial expressions and non-manual markers to convey meaning effectively.

Unit 8: Family and Relationships

This unit explores vocabulary related to family members, relationships, and social roles. It also covers possessive structures and ways to discuss family dynamics in ASL.

Unit 9: Time and Daily Routines

Unit 9 focuses on temporal concepts, teaching how to express time, frequency, and daily activities. Students learn to discuss schedules and routines using appropriate ASL grammar.

Unit 10: Health and Emotions

Health-related vocabulary and emotional expressions are central to this unit. Learners practice signing about feelings, health conditions, and well-being, fostering more personal and empathetic communication.

Unit 11: Community and Activities

Unit 11 introduces signs related to community life, recreation, and hobbies. This broadens the learner's ability to engage in conversations about social activities and interests.

Unit 12: Review and Integration

The final unit in this sequence consolidates previous lessons, encouraging fluency and comprehensive understanding. Activities often involve more complex dialogues and storytelling.
